A Message From Rabbi Kane

In Judaism, intention counts, especially for a negative outcome.

If a man kills an innocent person on purpose, he forfeits his life. If it's an accident, the penalty is less severe. If a woman steals someone's livelihood, by blocking their access to a needed resource, the penalty is severe. However, if she out-competes someone with superior products or services, or better value, there is no penalty.

In today's world we can use a little bit of the old wisdom in both directions.

If someone hurts us, we are compelled to do all we can to determine their intention before we react. It is a corollary of "an eye for an eye," meaning don't over-react to a perceived slight.

The opposite is also true. If an enemy promises to hurt you or your clan and then does hurt or even kill, then the punishment should fit the crime.

One can imagine a scenario where forgiveness might be possible, especially if the opposing forces were manipulated into conflict.

In each conflict, whether between two people or peoples, the first step is always to stop hurting each other. The issue is not who caused the first pain, but rather, can both resist resuming the hurting. The clear intention would be to not give in to the temptation of "just one more."

Resisting that temptation may take the greatest strength of all.

The Presidents' Message

Dear Fellow Congregants and Rabbi Kane,

I am inclined to share this for many reasons, as Jewish tradition understands the quandary of those who want to comfort mourners but cannot articulate words of comfort, so it provides a formulaic religious response to what is essentially an inexpressible emotion. Thus, consolers are able to express their sentiments in a soothing and spiritual way without fear that they might become tongue-tied in the face of irretrievable tragedy.

To All our congregants, to Rabbi and Val, “May God console you among the other mourners of Zion and Jerusalem (Ha'makom yenehem etkhem betokh she'ar avelei Tziyonvi'Yerushalayim).”

These past months have touched us all with the loss of dear one's close to our hearts and souls, relatives, and friends alike, may their memories be a blessed one.

Life Celebrations and Events – As we rolled into the second month of 2025 we continued with a busy and community minded calendar! February 2nd, the CBT Sisterhood attended Tea and a fashion show at Temple Beth-El.

The Worldwide Wrap was well attended and educational for all. The Men's Club Super Bowl Sunday Squares raised over $800 for B'nai Torah. The Super Bowl Watch Party on the 9th was fun, even though the game was a blowout.

On Sunday February 16th our first annual fund-raising event of the year, the Gala Gourmet Dinner with a New Orleans twist was a wonderful event, raising over $2,000 for the B'nai Torah Building Fund. A heartfelt thank you to all that attended, to Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Copper Bottom Distillery, and the Liebman's for their generous support and donations, to Kay for catching the little details, and to my 5 helpers, Justa, Maria, Christy, Annalee, and Paisley. I could not have done it without you.

A Lunch and Learn on Sunday, February 23rd, focused on Climate Change, presented by Ray Leonard, was fantastic, educational, and well attended. Ray is on his way to Rome for another speaking engagement. Safe travels!

March promises to be a Hamantaschen kind of month, don't get hung up (Pun intended) by not attending the festivities! Please volunteer and attend our Purim Carnival on March 9th.

As always great appreciation for all that volunteer their precious time to making B'nai Torah a close-knit family. We could not do it without you!!

Pray for peace and the return of all the Hostages in Israel. With compassion, mercy, intent, and love, wishing you health and prosperity.

Howard, President of Congregation B'nai Torah

THE KABBALAH KORNER BY HOWARD

Sharing wisdom from a 3,000 year old mystical tradition

ON PURIM LET THERE BE LIGHT

March 2025 Adar-Nissan, 5785

On Purim, the illusion of our disconnectedness is lifted like a great veil; all we have to do is embrace this truth. As with most great revelations, the first step begins with the maxim “know thyself”—and beyond this, dare to BE thyself. In the Purim story, the character Esther risked her own life by revealing her true identity; she stood up to those who would have destroyed her people. Few of us realize our own power or the fact that real change can begin when we choose to act and draw from our true essence, which is connected to the Light... that the only way to banish Purim’s Haman (a character representing the darkest inclinations of humanity) is to tap into this Light.

And how do we know when we are on the right path? We know because our decisions align increasingly with what is best, not just for me, but for others as well. There are many ways to find this connection: through kind thoughts and actions, through charity, and through gratitude, joy, and understanding. We cannot remove the negativity in the world with more negativity. Rather, we remove it in the same way that lighting a candle removes darkness from a room.

In the Purim story, the minority survived the threat of the majority because of this force of Light, this Unity Consciousness. In Kabbalah, we call it the Light of the Creator, which is able to metaphorically permeate every corner of the Universe. The Zohar states that humans and the cosmos are mutually supportive and inseparable aspects of the one, all-embracing unified whole of reality. The notion of a loving, unifying element pervades most every religion and philosophy. Even modern science increasingly points to the idea that everything we see (and do not see) is connected in ways both remarkable and mysterious.

When we look past the veil and realize that life is not happening around us, it is happening through us and of us, we become empowered to take a stand and tap into the best parts of ourselves. What I do affects everyone and everything else, either directly or indirectly. Purim opens an incredible opportunity for us to embrace this fully and to thereby bring blessings to ourselves and the world.

So, on this joyful, Light-revealing Purim day, instead of seeking division, find new ways to seek connection. Instead of doing more for myself today, do something unexpected (and even anonymous, which is tradition for this day) for someone else. Make it this day’s goal to find, express, and share your Light for the betterment of all!

Thank you for taking the time to read this, with unconditional love,

Howard

Congregation B'nai Torah Religious School Report

By Helen Farb

.The Religious School is preparing for our fantastic Purim Carnival. It will be Sunday, March 9th from 9:00-12:00. Valerie Kisseloff has ordered a tent, chairs, tables games and inflatables for this event. We will use the big classroom to fill Shalach Manot bags and the school kitchen to cook the hot dogs. The sanctuary will be used for registration, a photo booth, and for making hamentashen with the children. The tent will be stationed outside the classroom. We will have a face painting as well as tables and chairs for eating in there. The inflatables will be in the grass with a generator and the driveway will have the carnival games. We got $500.00 from the School Board and $300 from Shalom School. The Federation is paying for the security and the teachers' salaries (It is a school day!) The Rabbi is also hoping for donations. Parking will be across the street and the Men's Club will help with crossings. Volunteers are needed to help cook, and help out at the games. We will also have the teachers and some Hillel students. Please come and help make this a success!

Lindsey Goldberg got all the items for the Shalot Manot bags, Lea is getting hamentashen and her team has cleaned out the garage. Jessica Sznajstajler will be making hamentashen with the students, Marina Y'Frah will be helping place all the items, and Jonathan Frankel has provided many games and the prizes. I understand Alan Kisseloff is preparing to get creamed! (as Haman) Please volunteer! Sharon Goldish will give the children bags of kosher homemade hamentashen to sell. They are always delicious! Money will go to the Religious School.

Shalom School is thriving. The month of February was all about celebrating Tu B'Shevat and preparing for Purim. On Tu B'Shevat the students discussed trees and their importance and took a nature walk. On Sunday, February 23, they made graggers and painted masks for Purim.

Please help with the carnival! Call or text me to Volunteer ! 386-275-7076
Friday, March 7th, Kid and Tot Shabbat 6:00 Please attend!

MEN'S CLUB®

Men's Club Upcoming events:

Recent past events:

- We had a great World Wide Wrap event on Sunday, Feb 6th. (celebrating and learning about Tefillin)
- The Super Bowl Squares game raised significant money for the synagogue and the club.
- Lunch and Learn. Our congregant, Ray Leonard, who is a retired executive in the Oil industry, lead a very informative "Lunch and Learn" discussion on the subject of "Climate Change from an Oil Man's Perspective" on Sunday, February 23. About 21 folks enjoyed a delicious lunch, followed by Ray's talk.
- Thank you to all who participated in any of these events.

Upcoming:

- Shalom School Purim Carnival - Sunday, March 9, 9:00 am. Rabbi Kane and Helen Farb are asking for the Men's Club to help facilitate the Shalom School Purim Carnival. We need volunteers to show up and pitch in! The carnival starts at 9 am, so we need to be there early to help. RSVP to Mark by March 4.

- Visiting FJMC Sefer Haftarah Scroll - Friday, March 21 & Saturday, March 22. It's the Dattel's Bar/Bat Mitzvah weekend! As an extra treat, The Men's Club will be hosting a very special scroll called a Sefer Haftarah, which looks like a Torah Scroll but is actually full of the weekly Haftarah portions. This scroll travels across North America, and it will be with us the entire Shabbat. The Dattels will be reading their Haftarah portions directly from this scroll! Everyone will have an opportunity to get up close and personal with the scroll.

-Hearing Men's Voices - Sunday, March 23, 10:30 am. The next installment of our program, 'Hearing Men's Voices', will be at 10:30 am on Sunday, March 23, at the CBT sanctuary. It is an opportunity for the Men of our community to have a deep discussion that engages Jewish men in Jewish life, enabling deeper connections and better relationships among us. The topic will be publicized in the coming weeks. We are specifically timing this so we can add parents of the religious school kids. Please help encourage their attendance as well. Bring your friends and family members, no requirement to be a member of the Shul (or even Jewish). No women, please. Light snacks will be provided.

- Yom Hashoah - April 23. Yellow candles have arrived!. Each member of the CBT community should pick up a candle at services or the synagogue office. Each candle will be placed in a special bag, along with instructions and information. The candles will be lit this year on April 23.

- FJMC International Convention - Chicago - July 3rd-6th. Our club is a member in good standing with the FJMC, and I am the chairperson for this convention in Chicago. Let me know if you are interested in attending, or if you have questions.

I am open to your suggestions for more things to plan for this upcoming spring. As always, let me know of any ideas you'd like the Men's Club to facilitate.

Finally, we are building relationships with the brotherhoods at Temple Beth El (next door) and Temple Beth Shalom (Palm Coast). Members of their brotherhoods are being invited to our events, and I am committed to publicize their events as well. I encourage you to help me with this collaborative effort by attending and encouraging participation).

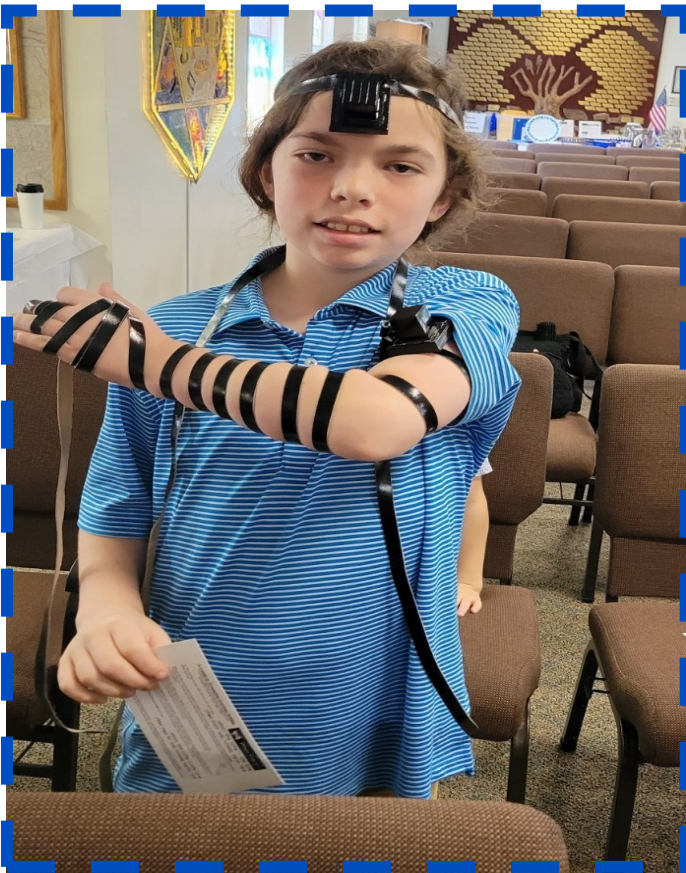

You can always check the Men's Club page on the CBT website: <https://mybnaitorah.org/mens-club/>

GALA GOURMET DINNER, NEW ORLEAN'S STYLE!

MENSCH OF THE MONTH

By our Congregant Ray Leonard

March “Mensch of the Month” Alan Kisseloff

Alan Kisseloff, Congregation B’nai Torah’s March “Mensch of the Month” uses his extensive wisdom and accumulated learnings to help others. Service is always his underlying motive.

Like so many of us, his paternal grandparents emigrated from the Pale in Czarist Russia, a small village near Kiev soon after the pogroms of 1905. His grandmother, a woman of great faith and intelligence studied law before leaving Russia. They arrived in Williamsburg, NY where his grandfather sold dry goods. Alan’s father was an attorney and at an early age, Alan assumed that he would follow in his father’s footsteps. The family moved to a predominantly Jewish neighborhood in the Long Island suburb of East Meadow where the postwar suburbs replaced the potato fields (even when you tried to plant grass, the potatoes would appear...) However, rather than schoolwork, his childhood was devoted to sports, stickball and football in the street and basketball. He also began a lifelong fascination with trains. He had what today would be diagnosed as attention deficit disorder, but with a photographic memory, “coasted” through high school with good grades.

With the encouragement of his grandmother, Alan was an active participant in the local Temple Emanuel, of which his parents were founding members, leading Saturday morning services when in high school. He also participated in extended family celebrations in all Jewish holidays, which has continued throughout his life.

At Hobart College, Alan realized he had to “wake up” and study if he were to attain his goal of becoming a lawyer. While he majored in political science, he stayed away from the radical politics that engulfed many colleges in the late days of the Vietnam War. From Hobart, Alan followed his planned path to St. John’s University School of Law. He describes passing the bar with his ADHD as perhaps the hardest thing he has ever done, relying on his photographic memory and uncountable hours of studying.

Alan spent his professional career as a partner at two boutique law firms, specializing in Real Estate and Banking. He commuted daily on the LIRR from Baldwin, NY. He married Jared’s mother who he met in sleep away camp, after his first year of law school. Although they divorced, they remain a very close family.

However, at age 47, in 1999, Alan did what many of us think about but do not act upon in middle age. Finding his life unfulfilling, remarried with Evan and Brittany in tow he and Nancy moved their family to Florida to be near her father, Alan took a job at Lowe's so that he could learn to drive a forklift! This was followed by a 13-year career with Palm Coast Data, a magazine subscription fulfillment company. But freed from the all-time consuming commute to New York City combined with his law practice he could now devote his considerable talents to serving a community and helping others.

He became a Volunteer Judge for the Volusia County Teen Court, helping teens to avoid ruining their future because of one mistake. He joined Temple Israel, became the Principal in the Religious School and taught there and at Bet Safer. He joined our Congregation B'nai Torah in 2001 and has served as Co-President, Vice-President and as a Board Member and support in management in multiple functions. He is on the Board of the Jewish Federation, volunteers at the Doliner Food Pantry, and manages two cemeteries.

His time in Florida, however, has been marked with sadness and near tragedy. Nancy, the love of his life passed away prematurely. His younger son, Evan, was miraculously the sole survivor of a plane crash in 2012 but lost his best friend.

Alan first experienced antisemitism in an unusual way; in high school in a predominantly Jewish suburb, when he went to school during some Jewish holidays, he encountered hostility from the gentile students who felt his presence meant that they had to work and not "goof off"... He is encouraged that the local authorities in Ormond Beach took antisemitic outbursts in the past few years seriously and expressed strong outrage. He feels deeply about the safety of Israel and is exasperated by the discounting of the human shield factor of the terrorists in world opinion. He thinks Golda Meir's saying "we won't have peace until they love their children more than they hate us" is unfortunately a sad reality.

At age 72, Alan Kisseloff is busier than ever; he is using his life lessons to help our Congregation and the community. It is truly a life well lived with hopefully much more to follow.

We need volunteers for the Membership and Visiting Committees.

Please consider volunteering a couple of hours a week or more to visit congregants at nursing homes, the hospital, or their homes. We also need volunteers for the Lunch Buddy Program to take older congregants out for coffee or lunch. We also need volunteers to write welcome cards for new members, to call potential members, to call members who are sick, and to write get-well cards.

If interested, please call Kay at the CBT Office at (386)672-1174.
